Commencement Exercises Madison Institute 59th Year

The commencement exercises of the class of 1914, Madison Institute, were held at the Christian Church on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, and seldom has a sweeter, more chaste service been witnessed in the beautiful building.

The platform, the altar and choir railing were banked with green foliage and white blossoms, a fit setting for the eight fair graduates of the class of 1914—Misses Austin Page Lilly, Margaret Mills Arnold, Corelia March Barnes, Ula Belle Blakeman, Mary Frances Hise, Eleanor Porter Hagan, Kathryn Rob Pitman and Zelia Ford Rice.

Promptly at the hour of ten Mrs. G. W. Pickels began the march and the ushers came slowly down the aisles single file followed by the graduates dressed in pure white and carrying shower bouquets of yellow roses.

The invocation was pronounced by Dr. E. B. Barnes after which Miss Eleanor Porter Hagan read her essay, "Memory's Message," followed by Miss Ula Belle Blakeman, whose subject was, "A Plea for the Classics," "Hark! the Village Bells" was then sung by the school.

Miss Austin Page Lilly made the "Speech of Presentation for the class of 1914," presenting a beautiful picture "Stratford on Avon" to Madison Institute. "Response for the school" was given by Miss Helen Rollins Bennett. A quartet, "A Bed-time Song" was sung by Misses Sadie Blair, Henrietta Luxon, Martha Yates McKee and Marie Louise Kellogg. Misses Margaret Mills Arnold and Corelia March Barnes read their essays, "American Ideals" and "Culture and Service."

Ave Maria—(Mendelssohn) was sung by the school, at the conclusion of which Mr. Cassidy presented the diplomas to the class. Hon. W. B. Smith made a beautiful talk to the graduates, urging them to be steadfast, to resist temptation, to press forward knowing no failure, "to sail on and on and on."

The exercises concluded with the singing of the Parting Hymn written by Miss Austin Page Lilly, and the impressive benediction by Dr. E. B. Barnes.

Found Dead

Friday afternoon the body of an unknown man was found floating in a pond on a farm of Col. H. B. Hanger near this city. Squire Wm. Adams was notified and held an inquest over the remains. The body was brought to town and was without identification for some time. A letter found in the man's pocket which was addressed to Merrill Friend, of Winston, Ky., led some to believe that the body was that of Friend, but many people who knew Friend intimately and who viewed the remains did not so identify him. Later on information was received from Winston that Friend was alive and a description of an uncle of Mr. Friend, J. C. Brandenburg, was telephoned to the authorities here and the description given tallied with the clothing, probable age, and other physical appearance of the dead man.

The body proved to be that of Mr. J. C. Brandenburg, of near Connersville, Ind. No marks of violence were found on the body. The identification was so complete that no doubt is felt as to the identity of the person.
